

THE 2016 ELECTION:
WHAT WORKING CLASS
VOTERS ARE THINKING
10:30AM, OCT. 21, 2017 • 155 DWINELLE HALL

A special Homecoming panel sponsored by the Center on Civility and Democratic Engagement and the Berkeley Forum.

The 2016 election results were a shock to many blue state residents across the country. White working class voters voted in droves for Donald Trump, leaving many wondering how this happened and if this meant a new status quo. In this panel, speakers discuss working class voters, their mindsets, and how our country can bridge its gaping political divide.

Featuring Arlie Hochschild, Professor Emerita, UC Berkeley, Department of Sociology and author of Strangers in Their Own Land: Anger and Mourning on the American Right, and Steven Hayward, FoxNews commentator, visiting scholar at the Institute of Governmental Studies and Ronald Reagan Professor of Public Policy at Pepperdine University.
