

The Center on Civility & Democratic Engagement at the Goldman School of Public Policy

invites you to a presentation and discussion with

The Participatory Budgeting Project

Thursday, September 6, 2012, 6:00-7:30pm

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN REAL WORLD SOLUTIONS TO THE BUDGET CRISIS WE FACE?

DO YOU WANT TO LEARN ABOUT A NEW APPROACH TO DEMOCRACY BEING IMPLEMENTED NOW IN OVER 1000 CITIES WORLD WIDE INCLUDING PLACES LIKE NEW YORK CITY AND CHICAGO?

Josh Lerner, PhD, Executive Director
THE PARTICIPATORY BUDGETING PROJECT

and

Pam Jennings, PB Vallejo Project Coordinator
THE PARTICIPATORY BUDGETING PROJECT

*Discuss how Goldman School students, faculty, and our colleagues across campus,
can get involved in "PB Vallejo" – the first city-wide participatory budgeting process in the United States - in which residents directly decide how to spend taxpayer money.*

Goldman School of Public Policy Room 250, 1893 Leroy Ave (at Hearst)

Refreshments will be provided. Please RSVP to gsppdean@berkeley.edu or visit <http://gspp.berkeley.edu/ccde/pbp.html> for more information.